Amelia Lundgren

Submitted by Kim Monda and Vandana Gavaskar

The English Department is proud to honor Amelia Lundgren as this year's outstanding student. Amelia is a passionate, creative thinker and a true scholar, able to synthesize complex ideas clearly and well as she develops her own argument. Her written work stands out for its originality and the depth of its analysis. An excellent close-reader, she also has a facility for connecting literature to larger historical and theoretical frameworks. In the classroom, Amelia is kind and thoughtful and always engaged. Amelia's gentle ways and approach to her peers in class discussions is notable. Her pleasure in exploring ideas and her commitment to intellectual inquiry make her an ideal English student.
