

Philosophy

Audrey Fvette

Submitted by Marc Bobro and Chris Kramer

Audrey is one of the most incredibly articulate students whom you will ever meet. She is also an incredibly deep thinker, able to see the “forest” as well as the “trees.” Audrey is equally modest and open to new ideas whether in class or philosophy club. She is a perfect model of a “Socratic” thinker, if there is such a thing.

These qualities were clearly demonstrated recently when Audrey participated as a member of the SBCC Ethics Debate Team in the International Business Ethics and Sustainability Case Competition held a couple of weeks ago. She twice presented sophisticated and compelling analyses regarding the ethical issues surrounding Telehealth. If you want to know anything about Telehealth, you know whom to ask.